

Supporting You: Helping Obese People

combatingobesity

Obesity is a complex condition

It is also a very sensitive and emotive subject.

Do you worry about offending those in your care?

We can help you to:

- ✓ Confidently raise the subject and minimise patient withdrawal
- ✓ Recognise words and triggers that may cause patients to disengage
- ✓ Engage, encourage and empower your patients to choose health

We combine our many years experience of supporting obese people with our knowledge of how and why barriers are created and share these insights through our accredited training and support programmes.
